

Animal Observation Investigation

When you see an animal in its natural habitat, write down the observations you make about it on the following Animal Observation Data Collection Sheet.

Use a field guide or research the animal to find out new facts about it. Write down at least three of these facts. What does it like to eat? Where does it like to sleep?

Put a sketch of the animal on your data sheet. Also look up the type of tracks that this animal makes. Draw a picture of the animal's tracks too.

See if you can fill out one Animal Observations Sheet for all the different types of animals that live in your area.

Going on vacation? Print off a few more data collections sheets to fill out about the new types of animals you may see while away from home!

Animal Observation Data Collection Sheet

Name of Animal: _____

Date of Animal Sighting: _____

Location: _____

What was the animal doing? _____

Where does this animal like to sleep?

What does this animal eat? _____

Interesting facts about this animal:

1. _____

2. _____

3. _____

Picture of Animal

Tracks

